COUNTRY PROFILE

GEOGRAPHY

Turkey lies between Asia and Europe, serving as a bridge geographically, culturally and economically with these two continents. Its land border has an overall length of 2,875 km. In the south, Turkey shares a 378-km border with Iraq and a 877-km border with Syria; in the west a 203-km border with Greece and a 269-km border with Bulgaria; in the east a 529-km border with Iran a 276-km border with Georgia, a 312-km border with Armenia and a 18 km border with Nakhichevan (Azerbaijan).

Turkey is surrounded by sea on three sides, by the Mediterranean in the south, the Aegean Sea in the west and the Black Sea in the north. The coastline exceeds 8,300 km. The two continents, Europe and Asia, are separated by the Dardanelles in the west and the Bosphorus Straits in the east.

With a land mass of 780,580 sq. km., Turkey ranks second in size among European countries, and second among its neighbors following Iran. Its territory is roughly in the shape of a rectangle measuring 550 km. from north to south and 1,565 km. from east to west, at its widest points.

Turkey has 81 administrative provinces and is divided into seven geographical regions (the Marmara, the Black Sea, the Eastern Anatolia, the Southeastern Anatolia, the Mediterranean, the Aegean and Central Anatolia).

POPULATION

According to the 2008 census conducted by the Turkish Board of Statistics (TÜİK) as part of the new Address-Based Population Registration System, Turkey's population now exceeds 71 million. The census says the population rose from 70.6 million in 2007 to 71.5 million at the end of 2008, a 13.1 percent increase. Out of 81 provinces, 55 saw a population increase, while the remaining saw decreases. İstanbul now has a population of 12.7 million, Ankara 4.5 million, and İzmir 3.8 million. These three cities make up 30 percent of the country's total population. The male to female ratio stands nearly equal, at 1.008:1. According to the census, 75 percent of the country's population (53.6 million) is concentrated in cities. The remaining 17.9 million live in towns and villages. İstanbul–Turkey's most populous city, located on the Bosphorus, a major commercial and cultural center linking the East and West since ancient times, and a focal point for industry, culture, trade and tourism – alone accounts for 17.8 percent of the total population, followed by Ankara (6.4 percent), İzmir (5.3 percent), Bursa (3.5 percent) and Adana (2.8 percent). Bayburt, with a population of 75,700, is the least-populated province. The average age of the country's population is 28.5 – 28 for men, and 29 for women. The average age of city dwellers is 28.4, while it is 28.6 for those living in towns and villages. The working-age population (age 11-64) corresponds to 66.9 percent of the total population. A total of 26.3 percent of the country's population is 14 or under, while 6.8 percent are 65 and older. The population density of Turkey as a whole is 93 people per square kilometer.

The overwhelming majority of Turkey's population, 99 percent, is Muslim. The official language is Turkish. English is also widely spoken, especially in urban centers and tourist areas. Students are taught foreign languages, mainly English, French and German, in many high schools and universities. In recent years, Russian and Chinese have been added to these languages.

HISTORY

The Turkish nation, which appeared on the stage of history over two thousand years ago, established many states in different parts of the world. The Ottoman Empire, one of the greatest empires in history, was dismembered after the First World War. But the Turkish nation launched the War of Independence in 1919 under the leadership of Mustafa Kemal Atatürk, the founder of the Republic of Turkey and fought against the occupation forces.

The Turkish Grand National Assembly (TGNA), or Parliament, convened for the first time in Ankara on April 23, 1920, and proclaimed the Republic on October 29, 1923. After the War of National Independence, Mustafa Kemal, surnamed Atatürk (Father of the Turks), was elected the Republic's first President. Atatürk instituted a series of social reforms, all of which have played a central role in the development of modern Turkey. Atatürk's social and cultural reforms are still intact, his impact clearly visible and his memory immortal.

CLIMATE

Although Turkey is situated geographically where climatic conditions are quite temperate, the diversity of the landscape, and the fact that mountain ranges run parallel to the coasts, result in significant differences in climatic conditions from one region to the other. While the coastal areas enjoy milder climates, the inland Anatolian plateau experiences hot summers and cold winters with limited rainfall.

THE CONSTITUTION AND
THE BASIC ORGANS OF THE STATE

The Republic of Turkey adopted its first Constitution in 1924. It retained the basic principles of the 1921 Constitution, notably the principle of national sovereignty. As in the 1921 Constitution, the Turkish Grand National Assembly (TGNA, or Parliament) was deemed the "sole representative of the nation."

The second Constitution of the Republic of Turkey was adopted in 1961. In its macro-societal dynamics, the 1961 Constitution represented a positive response to the influence of the rising tide of a social state in the world and the semi-industrialized status of the economy in Turkey. Consequently, it established a constitutional system within the framework of a social state, the rule of law and a parliamentary democratic governmental system. The 1961 Constitution introduced a bicameral Parliament: the National Assembly with 450 deputies, and the Senate of the Republic with 150 members.

The third Constitution of the Republic was passed in 1982 by a national referendum and is still in effect today. Under the 1982 Constitution, sovereignty is vested fully and unconditionally in the nation.

Under the 1982 Constitution, the TGNA convenes with a quorum of at least one-third of the total number of members for all its affairs, including balloting, to prevent parliamentary deadlocks. Unless otherwise stipulated in the Constitution, the TGNA convenes with at least one-third of the total number of members and takes decisions by an absolute majority of those present; however, the quorum for decisions can, under no circumstances, be less than one-quarter plus one of the total number of members.

The fundamental change in the legislature by the 1982 Constitution was abolition of the Senate. The Constitution stipulates that the Republic of Turkey is committed to the nationalism of Atatürk. It also emphasizes that The Turkish state, with its territory and nation, is an indivisible entity, and a secular, democratic, social state under the rule of law. All individuals are equal without any discrimination before the law, irrespective of language, race, skin color, gender, political orientation, philosophical creed, religion and sect, or any such considerations. The 1982 Constitution recognizes all basic human rights and freedoms such as freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of residence and movement, freedom of religion and conscience, freedom of thought and opinion, freedom of expression and dissemination of thought, freedom of association, freedom of communication, the right to privacy, right to property, right to hold meetings and demonstration marches, right to legal remedies, guarantee of lawful judgement and right to acquire information.

Parliament has passed many constitutional amendments to make the 1982 Constitution more democratic and to expand democratic rights and freedoms in the country. These efforts gained significant momentum after European Union recognized Turkey as a candidate country in 1999 and later agreed to start full membership talks with Turkey in 2004. A constitutional referendum on a number of changes to the constitution was held in Turkey on 12 September 2010. The results showed the majority supported the constitutional amendments, with 58% in favour and 42% against. The changes were aimed at bringing the constitution into compliance with EU standards.

LEGISLATURE

Legislative power is vested in the Turkish Grand National Assembly (TGNA) on behalf of the Turkish Nation and this power cannot be delegated. The TGNA is composed of 550 deputies. Parliamentary elections are held every four years. Deputies represent the entire nation and before assuming office, take an oath, the text of which is included in the Constitution.

The functions and powers of the TGNA comprise the enactment, amendment, and repeal of laws; the supervision of the Council of Ministers (Cabinet) and the Ministers; authorization of the Council of Ministers to issue governmental decrees having the force of law on certain matters; debating and approval of the budget draft and the draft law of final accounts, making decisions on the printing of currency, the declaration of war, marital law or emergency rule; ratifying international agreements; making decisions with 3/5 of the TGNA on proclamation of amnesties and pardons in line with the Constitution.

JUDICIARY

Judicial power in Turkey is exercised by independent courts and high judicial organs functioning on behalf of the Turkish nation. The judicial section of the Constitution is based on the principle of the rule of law. The judiciary is founded on the principles of the independence of the courts and the security of tenure of judges. Judges rule on the basis of constitutional provisions, law and jurisprudence.

The legislative and executive organs must comply with the rulings of the courts and may not change or delay the application of these rulings.

Functionally, a tripartite judicial system was adopted by the Constitution and accordingly, it was divided into an administrative judiciary, a legal judiciary and a special judiciary.

The Constitutional Court, the Supreme Court of Appeals, the Council of State, the Supreme Military Court of Appeals, the Supreme Military Administrative Court and the Court of Jurisdictional Conflicts are the supreme courts stipulated in the judicial section of the Constitution. The Supreme Council of Judges and Public Prosecutors and the Supreme Council of Public Accounts are two additional organizations having special functions which are set out in the judicial section of the Constitution.

EXECUTIVE

The executive branch in Turkey has a dual structure. It is composed of the President of the Republic and the Council of Ministers (Cabinet).

President

The President of the Republic is the head of State and represents the Republic of Turkey and the unity of the Turkish nation. The President elected by the public from among the Turkish Grand National Assembly members who are over 40 years of age and have completed higher education or from among ordinary Turkish citizens who fulfill these requirements and are eligible to be deputies. The President's term of office is five years and one can be elected to two terms at most.

The President of the Republic has duties and powers related to the legislative, executive and judicial branches, and is responsible for ensuring the implementation of the Constitution, and the regular and harmonious functioning of the organs of state.

The President's duties and powers relating to legislation are to deliver, if he or she deems it necessary, the opening address of the Turkish Grand National Assembly on the first day of the legislative year, to summon the Turkish Grand National Assembly to meet, when necessary, to debate and pass laws, to return laws to the Turkish Grand National Assembly to be reconsidered, to submit to referendum, if he or she deems it necessary, legislation regarding amendment of the Constitution, to appeal to the Constitutional Court to annul in part or entirety of certain provisions of laws, decrees having the force of law, and the Rules of Procedure of the Turkish Grand National Assembly on the grounds that they are unconstitutional in form or in content, to call new elections for the Turkish Grand National Assembly. The President's duties and powers relating to executive functions are to appoint the Prime Minister and to accept his or her resignation, to appoint and dismiss Ministers on the proposal of the Prime Minister, to preside over the Council of Ministers (Cabinet) or to call the Council of Ministers to meet under his or her chairmanship whenever he or she deems it necessary, to accredit representatives of the Turkish state to foreign states and to receive the representatives of foreign states appointed to the Republic of Turkey, to ratify and promulgate international treaties, to represent the Supreme Military Command of the Turkish Armed Forces on behalf of the Turkish Grand National Assembly, to decide on the mobilization of the Turkish Armed Forces, to appoint the Chief of the General Staff, to call the National Security Council to meet, to preside over the National Security Council, to proclaim martial law or states of emergency, and to issue decrees having the force of law, in accordance with the decisions of the Council of Ministers under his or her chairmanship, to sign decrees, to remit, on grounds of chronic illness, disability, or old age, all or part of the sentences imposed on certain individuals, to appoint the members and the chairman of the state Supervisory Council, to instruct the State Supervisory Council to carry out inquiries, investigations and inspections, to appoint the members of the Board of Higher Education, to appoint rectors of universities. Those relating to the Judiciary are to appoint the members of the Constitutional Court, one-fourth of the members of the Council of State, the Chief Public Prosecutor and the Deputy Chief Public Prosecutor of the High Court of Appeals, the members of the Military High Court of Appeals, the members of the Supreme Military Administrative Court and the members of the Supreme Council of Judges and Public Prosecutors.

No appeal can made to any legal authority, including the Constitutional Court, against the decisions and orders signed by the President of the Republic on his or her own initiative. The President of the Republic may be impeached for high treason on the proposal of at least one-third of the total number of members of the Turkish Grand National Assembly, and by the decision of at least three-fourths of the total number of members.

Prime Minister and Council of Ministers (Cabinet)

The Council of Ministers (Cabinet) consists of the Prime Minister, designated by the President of the Republic from members of the TGNA, and various ministers nominated by the Prime Minister and appointed by the President of the Republic. Ministers can be dismissed from their duties by the President or upon the proposal of the Prime Minister when deemed necessary.

When the Council of Ministers is formed, the government program is read out at the TGNA and a vote of confidence is taken. Members of the Council of Ministers are responsible for the execution of general policies. The Ministers assume two kinds of political responsibilities: The first is responsibility for the general policy of the government, shared equally by all ministers. Second, each minister is individually responsible for matters within the jurisdiction of his/her own ministry and for the acts of his/her subordinates.

The fundamental duty of the Council of Ministers is to formulate and implement the internal and foreign policies of the state. The Council of Ministers is accountable to the Parliament in the execution of this duty.

The National Security Council (NSC) is composed of the Prime Minister, Chief of the General Staff, Deputy Prime Ministers, Ministers of Justice, Defense, Internal Affairs, and Foreign Affairs, the Commanders of the Army, Navy and Air Forces and the General Commander of the Gendarmerie, under the chairmanship of the President of the Republic. Depending on the particulars of the agenda, Ministers and other persons concerned may be invited to meetings of the Council and their views heard.

The NSC submits to the Council of the Ministers its views on the advisory decisions that are taken to ensure the necessary conditions with regard to the formulation, establishment, and implementation of the national security policy of the state. The Council of Ministers evaluates decisions of the NSC concerning measures that it deems necessary for the preservation of the existence and independence of the state, the integrity and indivisibility of the country, and the peace and security of society. The agenda of the NSC is drawn up by the President of the Republic taking into account the proposals of the Prime Minister and the Chief of the General Staff.

DIRECTORATE GENERAL OF PRESS AND INFORMATION

HISTORY AND FUNCTIONS

Subsequent to the establishment of the Turkish Grand National Assembly on April 23, 1920, one of the first national institutions set up by the then-newly formed Turkish State was the Directorate General of Press and Information (DGPI) . Founded on June 7, 1920 at the behest of Atatürk, the Directorate was at the time simultaneously affiliated with the TGNA and the Council of Ministers (Cabinet).

Atatürk wrote in the preamble to the law establishing the DGPI: "Neglecting to establish an organization of politics and ideas for a considerable period of time, which is as powerful as weaponry in defending our national interests, has led to many acts of malice. There is not a single European state that has not set up an as-large-as-possible organization with this objective in mind. On the one hand we have to issue publications with the aim of defending our national and legitimate cause and to constantly scrutinize the foreign press to understand the flow of ideas, while on the other hand we need to issue publications within the nation to produce a union of ideas and spirit as modern times dictate."

The Directorate, which has had various names under several ministries in the decades since its establishment, attained its own organizational structure with its current name and functions under a decree in 1984. The duties of the DGPI include: (a) to contribute to the promotion policy of the state and the strategies implemented by the government towards this end; (b) to provide accurate and timely information to the public and relevant state authorities; (c) to ensure that government activities and services are effectively conveyed to the national and international publics; (d) to maintain and organize relations with the domestic and foreign media and take effective measures for facilitating their working conditions and activities.

The DGPI has provincial offices in Adana, Antalya, Diyarbakır, Erzurum, Istanbul, İzmir, and Trabzon, as well as 23 offices abroad.

PRACTICAL INFORMATION FOR MEMBERS OF THE FOREIGN MEDIA

Temporary Accreditation

A foreign journalist who is to cover news events in Turkey for a period of less than three months is advised to visit the press officers of the Turkish Embassy in their country before departing for Turkey. This way, interview requests to the relevant Turkish authorities or other professional demands can be arranged prior to a journalist's travel.

Accreditation and Issuance of Press Cards for Temporary Visits

Foreign members of the media working in Turkey on a temporary basis should apply to the DGPI for press credentials which are valid for three months.

Documents Required for Temporary Accreditation

- Application Form.
- Letter of authorization from the applicant's organization confirming his/her assignment to Turkey, including the purpose and length of his/her visit.
- Letter of introduction from the Embassy or Consular Office (in Turkey) of the country where the organization is based confirming his/her status as a member of the media.
- Photocopy of passport.
- Three passport-size photographs.

Please Note: The DGPI is authorized to request other documents which may be considered relevant. False statements in the application form or false documents may lead to the revocation of the Press Card.

Customs Guide

Professional equipment, materials and their spare parts as well as motor vehicles which foreign media members on temporary assignment in Turkey bring in during their assignment in accordance with the rules of declaration and registry are exempt from all customs duties.

Upon the termination of the assignment, a foreign media member must take all these items out of the country; they can neither be transferred nor sold.

Foreign media members on temporary assignment in Turkey who have travelled by their own vehicle to Turkey may leave their vehicles in Turkey should they need to exit and re-enter the country during these three months. However, their vehicles must be parked either on the premises of the Directorate General of Press and Information in Ankara or at one of its provincial offices. For this, applications should be made to the DGPI for written permission. Vehicles which are not claimed by their owners after the three-month period is over will be handed over to the Customs Authority. Vehicles should only be driven by a foreign journalist who holds a Certificate of Ownership of the vehicle.

A foreign media member on temporary assignment in Turkey should register their professional equipment and materials with the International ATA (Admission Temporaire/Temporary Admission) Carnet in order to bring them to Turkey. They must take these materials when leaving the country upon the termination of their assignment.

Permanent Accreditation (for longer stays)

Members of the foreign media who are assigned to Turkey for a period of more than three months and who have acquired a work visa are considered applicants for "permanent" accreditation.

Accreditation and Issuance of Press Cards for "Permanent" Stays

Members of the foreign media assigned to Turkey should apply to the DGPI for press credentials. An accredited journalist will be issued a Press Card. Accreditations should be renewed annually at the beginning of the calendar year.

Documents Required for Permanent Accreditation

For first-time applications and accreditation renewals, the following documents must be submitted to the DGPI:

- Application Form.
- Work visa (a first-time applicant must obtain their work visa from a Turkish Consular Office abroad prior to their visit to Turkey) .
- Letter from the applicant's organization confirming their assignment to Turkey as a journalist and the wage relation between the applicant and the press organization.
- Letter of introduction from the Embassy or Consular Office of the country where the organization is based confirming their status as a member of the media.
- Photocopy of the ID and visa pages of the passport.
- Photocopy of the residence permit (for renewals only) .
- Three passport-size photographs.
- Clippings or audio/visual tapes of journalistic work in Turkey (for renewals only).

Please Note: The DGPI Information Department is authorized to request other documents which may be considered relevant. Applications that are not compliant with the Press Card Code will be refused. Following renewal of the Press Card, the expired press card should be returned to the DGPI within one month. Upon the end of the assignment in Turkey, the Press Card should be returned to the DGPI.

Press Card Revocation

The Press Card of a journalist will be revoked if (a) they state false information in the application form; or (b) they let another person use their Press Card. A new press card will not be issued for a period of three years.

Residence Permit

First-time applicants should apply in person to the Provincial Security Directorate, Division of Foreigners (İl Emniyet Müdürlüğü, Yabancılar Şubesi) after they have been issued a Press Card by the DGPI.

Documents Required for First-Time Applicants of the Residence Permit

- Residence Application Form (4 original copies) . The form is available at the Provincial Security Directorate (İl Emniyet Müdürlüğü, Yabancılar Şubesi) and DGPI. The forms should be filled in according to the ID information stated on the passport. A photo should be affixed to each copy.
- Passport. The work visa should be stamped on the passport. Foreign journalists should apply to the Provincial Security Directorate (İl Emniyet Müdürlüğü, Yabancılar Şubesi) within one month following the issuance of their work visa.
- Four recent passport-size photographs.
- Address Declaration Form. Available at the Provincial Security Directorate Foreigners' Department (İl Emniyet Müdürlüğü, Yabancılar Şubesi) and DGPI

- Press Card and a certified copy from a notary or the DGPI.
- Letter of employment, confirming assignment to Turkey, from the applicant's organization.
- Documentation fee.

Please Note: Foreign journalists residing in Ankara and Istanbul may extend their residence permit through the DGPI. Family members should apply directly to the Provincial Security Directorate. However, foreign members of the media resident in other provinces should personally apply to the Provincial Security Directorate of their area for the extension of residence permits.

Documents Required for the Extension of the Residence Permit

- Residence Application Form (1 original, 1 copy) . A photo should be affixed to the original copy.
- Two passport-size photographs.
- Certified copy of the Press Card.
- Passport and photocopies of the ID and visa pages. If the duration of residence is interrupted for more than 6 months, a new work visa should be obtained from a Turkish Consular Office.
- Original and one copy of previous residence permit. Permits should be extended within 15 days after expiration. There is a penalty for expired permits. A fee will be charged for a new residence permit after four consecutive extensions. There is a penalty for remaining in Turkey with an expired residence permit.

Customs Guide

A foreign journalist who is accredited and is issued a residence permit may bring in the following items free of customs duties:

- Professional equipment and materials, including spare parts.
- Household goods.
- Office equipment.
- Automobiles and other means of transportation.

Bringing in these items is subject to prior permission of the DGPI, which is done on the basis of a franchise document or “Takrir.” All articles brought in by foreign journalists with a franchise document should be duly disposed of by re-exportation, transfer or sale, provided that prior permission is obtained from the DGPI.

Museums

Anıtkabir (Atatürk Mausoleum)

The Atatürk Mausoleum is a stately structure located on a hilltop visible from many parts of Ankara. Construction began in 1944 and was completed in 1953. There are pavilions with bas-reliefs on each side. The square is 80 x 130 meters with a capacity of 40,000 people. Monumental steps lead up to the mausoleum. In the wings of the mausoleum are many items associated with Atatürk's life, including books and motorcars. Location: Anıttepe. Tel: 231 79 75. Open daily 9:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m. and 1:30-5:00 p.m., except Mondays.

Ankara Citadel

This was built during the Byzantine era and was restored by the Seljuks and Ottomans. It has an inner and outer section. The outer citadel was built in 668 A.D. by order of the Byzantine Emperor Constantine. This section has more than 20 towers and surrounds the old city of Ankara. The inner citadel, presumed to have been built in the eighth century B.C., is made partly of Ankara stone. The inner citadel has two main gates: the Parmak Kapısı and the Hisar Kapısı. Location: Ulus. Tel: 311 25 40. The citadel is always open.

Museum of Anatolian Civilizations (Hittite Museum)

This museum is housed in two 15th century buildings. One was a caravanserai, which was an inn, while the other was a bedesten, a covered market place. These two structures were skillfully joined. Many archeological finds are on display in the museum such as pre-Historic, Phrygian and Urartian objects. The museum reflects Anatolian civilizations dating from Paleolithic to Classical times and has an outstanding collection of Hittite art. Some of the antiquities on exhibit date back to the sixth millennium B.C. Location: Ulus. Tel: 324 31 61. Open daily 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Ethnography Museum

This contains 40,000 Turkish artifacts and ethnographic objects dating from the Seljuk period to the present. The museum displays the lifestyle, tools, clothing and interior decorations of the Anatolian people. It was built in 1925-27. It has 10 display halls, a library and archive rooms. Location: Ulus. Tel: 311 95 56. Open daily 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. and 1:30-5:30 p.m. except Mondays.

Museum of the War of Independence

Housed in the Second National Assembly building, the displays in the museum illustrate technical, cultural, political and social developments which have occurred since the 1923 founding of the Republic to the present. Location: Ulus. Tel: 310 53 61. Open daily 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. except Mondays.

Roman Baths Museum

Built in the 3rd century A.D by the Roman Emperor Caracalla and dedicated to the Roman God of Health, Asclepius, the bath area measures 80 x 130 meters. Most of the baths, service halls and resting rooms were uncovered during excavations carried out in 1937-1943 by the Turkish Historical Society. Location: Ulus. Tel: 310 72 80.. Open daily 8:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. and 1:30-5:30 p.m.

State Museum of Painting and Sculpture

The displays in this museum illustrate the history of Turkish fine arts. Location: Samanpazarı. Tel: 310 20 94. Open every day, except Mondays, 9:00 a.m.-Noon and 1:00-5:00 p.m.

ISTANBUL

Historical Places, Parks

Aynalıkavak Pavilion

Built in 1792 during the reign of Sultan Ahmet III as a hunting lodge. It is an excellent example of typical Ottoman architecture. The pavilion overlooks the Golden Horn.

Aqueducts

There are seven aqueducts in the Belgrade Forest, covering an area of about 14,000 hectares. The Belgrade Forest is about 12 km from Istanbul.

Bozdođan Arch

Situated between the Fatih and Őehzadebaşı districts, this arch was built in 365 AD by the Roman Emperor Valens. It is made of stone and is 592 meters high.

Büyükçekmece Lake

The lake is situated in the vicinity of the Küçükçekmece district. The master Architect Sinan built a famous bridge where the lake joins the sea.

The Burnt Column

The Roman Emperor Constantine the Great decided to rebuild Istanbul and had this column brought from Rome. On top of the column is a statue of Apollo. During the reign of Sultan Mustafa II, iron hoops were placed around the column because it had become unsafe due to its age. Location: Çemberlitaş.

Covered Bazaar

Built in 1461 by order of Sultan Mehmet the Conqueror. This wooden structure was restored in 1954 after several fires. With its 65 streets, 4,400 shops, 20 inns, one mosque, 10 mescids, 19 fountains and Turkish bath, it covers an area of 30,000 square meters. The Covered Bazaar is one of the main attractions of Istanbul where one can shop for almost anything. Location: Beyazıt.

Çamlıca Hill

Situated on the Asian side of İstanbul, this 262-meter-high hill provides a panoramic view of the city and has a nice tea-house. Location: Üsküdar.

Emirgan Woods

Three kiosks, namely the Pink, Yellow and White Kiosks, are located in this park overlooking the Bosphorus. This is the site of the annual Tulip Festival and has excellent coffeehouses. Open every day. Location: Emirgan.

Ahmet III Fountain

Located near the first gate of Topkapı palace, it has green and blue tiles and is an Ottoman architectural masterpiece.

The Galata Tower

The Galata Tower, a Genoese structure built in 1348, rises 62 meters high over the Golden Horn. It has a magnificent panoramic view of Istanbul, overlooking the Golden Horn and the Bosphorus. In the evening, tourists enjoy its popular restaurants, nightclubs and bars.

Gülhane Park

Opened to the public in 1912, the park has coffee houses and a zoo. There is also a statue of Atatürk made by the Austrian sculptor Krippen and the historic Column of the Goths. Location: Sultanahmet.

Hıdiv Kasrı

Palatial house of the last Governor-General of Egypt. It is now a restaurant and hotel. Location: Çubuklu

Hippodrome

The site where various sporting events and festivities were held during the Byzantine era. Location: Sultanahmet.

Obelisk

Carved out of granite brought from Egypt, the Byzantine imperial family is depicted around the base of the column. Location: Sultanahmet.

Pierre Loti

Situated on the hills of Eyüp and extending down to the Golden Horn, it was a popular promenading area during the Ottoman Era. Prominent literary men of the time used to gather in the Pierre Loti coffee house situated here. There is a coffee house decorated with examples of ancient Turkish handicrafts.

Princes' Islands

(Kınalı, Burgaz, Heybeliada, Büyükada, Sedef and Tavşan Islands)
These beautiful islands derive their name from their historic role as places of exile for Byzantine royalty. Here one may find pinewoods, horse-drawn carriages, and charming historic houses.

Polonezköy

This village was founded by Poles fleeing the invading Prussian and Russian armies. This village is famous for its hospitality and it also has fine restaurants.

Serpentine Column

Erected in 497 BC to commemorate a Greek military victory over the Persians. Location: Sultanahmet.

Soğukçeşme Street

A historic street in Sultanahmet where there are renovated houses used as hotels and an old cistern which was restored and converted into a tavern.

Spice Bazaar (Egyptian Bazaar)

Built by the mother of Sultan Mehmet IV as a source of income for Yeni Mosque. Once it was a center where spices brought from the Far East were sold. The site was named the "Egyptian Bazaar" as most of these spices were shipped from Egypt. Today, there are still spice shops in the Bazaar. Location: Eminönü

Yedikule Fortress (Seven Towers)

This triumphal arch was built to welcome home victorious armies and later served as a prison.

Yıldız Park

Situated on the hills above Beşiktaş and Ortaköy, the park is the former garden of the Yıldız Palace built by Sultan Abdulaziz. The Malta and Çadır Kiosks in the woods have been restored and turned into coffeehouses. There are also the Şale Kiosk, two country-style coffeehouses and a winter garden. Open every day. Location: Beşiktaş.

Beylerbeyi Palace

In the 19th century, Sultan Abdülaziz built the Beylerbeyi Palace, a fantastic structure in white marble amid magnolia-filled gardens, on the European shore of the Bosphorus. Used as the Sultan's summer residence, it was where the most distinguished foreign dignitaries stayed during their visits. Empress Eugenie of France was among its residents. Location: Çayırbaşı Durağı-Beylerbeyi. Tel: (0216)321 93 20. Open every day except Mondays and Thursdays.

Chora Museum

The 11th century church of St. Saviour-in-Chora is the second most important Byzantine monument in Istanbul following St. Sophia. The walls are decorated with superb 14th century frescoes and mosaics with a gold background. The mosaics have now been cleaned and restored. The church is a remarkable museum of Byzantine mosaics and frescoes. Location: Kariye Camii S.28, Edirnekapı. Tel: 631 92 41. Open daily 9:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m. except Tuesdays.

Dolmabahçe Palace

The place where Dolmabahçe Palace now stands was a bay until the beginning of the 15th century. Sultan Ahmet I launched a project to fill in this bay by leveling the hill where Dolmabahçe Stadium stands today and dumping the debris into the bay. This is why the place was called "Dolmabahçe" (the reclaimed garden). It was built in the mid-19th century by the master builder Serkis Karabet Balyan during the reign of Sultan Abdülmecit I. Its facade extends 600 meters along the European shore of the Bosphorus. The palace has rich collections of paintings, clocks, vases and candelabras as well as 36 extremely valuable chandeliers. Atatürk, the founder of the Turkish Republic, died in Dolmabahçe on November 10, 1938.

Location: Dolmabahçe. Tel: (0216)236 90 00. Open daily 9:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m., except Mondays and Thursdays.

Küçüksu Kasrı

The Göksu Palace, also known as Küçüksu, takes its name from the streams which empty into the Bosphorus near the tiny palace. Built by Abdülmecit I in the middle of the 19th century, it was used as a summer residence. Location: Anadolu Hisarı-Beykoz. Tel: (0216)332 33 03. Open daily except Mondays and Thursdays.

Leander's Tower

Leander's Tower is situated on an outcrop at the mouth of the Bosphorus, close to Üsküdar. Famous for its romantic legend about the daughter of the Emperor Constantine, it now serves as a lighthouse.

Military Museum

A museum of weapons was built during the reign of Ahmet III (1703-1730). In 1986 the Military Museum was moved to the gymnasium located in the old building of the Military College. The museum has a rich display of interesting weapons dating from the reign of the Eyyubis to the reign of the Ottoman Sultan Orhan Bey. Location: Harbiye. Tel: 232 16 98; 233 27 20. Open daily 9:00-17:00 except Mondays and Tuesdays.

Rumeli Hisarı

Seen from any angle, this imposing military structure is impressive as its towers and walls twist and turn following the contours of the hill. Built by Sultan Mehmet the Conqueror to aid in the conquest of Constantinople, the fortress is now open to the public. Open every day except Mondays.

Mosques

Bayezid Mosque

The mosque was built by Sultan Beyazıt II in 1505. There are valuable tiles, engravings and inscriptions on the underside of the dome. In addition to the mosque, the complex consists of a library, the tombs of some well-known statesmen of the Ottoman era, and a beautiful colonnaded courtyard.

Eyüp Sultan Mosque

Built by Sultan Mehmet the Conqueror in the 15th century, it contains the tomb of Khalid Bin Zeyd. He was the standard-bearer of the Prophet Mohammed who died during an assault on the walls of Istanbul in 670. It is also a pilgrimage site.

Fatih Mosque

Built by Sultan Mehmet the Conqueror between 1463 and 1470, it is one of the largest mosques in Istanbul. The whole complex consists of 16 medreses, a hospital, school, library, soup kitchen, caravanserai, and a printing house.

Mihrimah Sultan Mosque

Four huge arches support the central dome of the Mihrimah Sultan Mosque located at the Edirne gate of the old city walls. One hundred and sixty-one windows illuminate this mosque, built by the master architect Sinan in the second half of the 16th century for Mihrimah Sultan, the daughter of Süleyman the Magnificent.

Tel: 512 04 80

Nuruosmaniye Mosque

Built by Sultan Mahmut I between 1748 and 1755, it has a medrese, a library and an elaborate fountain. It is located on the Nuruosmaniye Street entrance to the Covered Bazaar.

Rüstem Paşa Mosque

Built by the great Turkish architect Sinan in 1560 upon the order of Rüstem Paşa, the Grand Vizier and son-in-law of Sultan Süleyman the Magnificent. The mosque is noted for its İznik tiles.

Sultanahmet Mosque (The Blue Mosque)

Facing St. Sophia stands the supremely elegant Sultanahmet Mosque. Built between 1609 and 1616 during the reign of Sultan Ahmet I by the architect Mehmet, the building is more commonly known as the Blue Mosque because of its magnificent interior decoration of over 20,000 blue and white İznik tiles. It is the only mosque in Istanbul with six minarets.

Süleymaniye Mosque

Built by the famous architect Sinan in 1550-1557, the Süleymaniye Mosque is considered the most beautiful and splendid of all the imperial mosques in the city. The Süleymaniye complex also includes madrasah, a medical school, a hospice for the poor, a caravanserai and a Turkish bath.

Şehzade Mosque

Built by the celebrated architect Sinan in 1554-1558, this mosque has beautiful engravings on its two minarets.

Yeni (New) Mosque

It was built by Valide Sultan Safiye, the mother of Sultan Mehmet IV and the wife of Sultan Murad III. There is an elegant fountain in the large courtyard. There is also the Sultan's Kiosk decorated with marvelous İznik tiles. The mosque is located in the main shopping district of the city.

OTHER PRINCIPAL CITIES

İzmir

İzmir, the largest and most populated city in the Aegean region of Turkey, was founded around 3,000 B.C. It was destroyed and rebuilt many times during the course of history. It is the third-largest city in Turkey and an important port for Turkey's exports. The archeological museum is located within the premises of the International Fair, which opens annually on August 20 and is a unique place of interest illustrating the history of the city. Other places of interest are the citadel (Kadifekale), and the nearby resorts of Kuşadası and Gümüldür. Ephesus (Efes) and Pergamum (Bergama) are nearby important archeological sites. İzmir, situated around a bay resembling a horseshoe, has an important place in Turkey's artistic and cultural life with its two universities and many cultural activities.

Bursa

As the first capital of the Ottoman State, Bursa is a city of history. Its monuments, mosques and tombs of the first Ottoman rulers are encircled by greenery of every shade. Bursa is one of the most important agricultural and industrial centers of the country. It also attracts quite a number of skiing enthusiasts in winter to nearby Uludağ (Mt. Olympus) overlooking the city. Bursa is also noted for its thermal baths, silk, fabrics and terrycloth. Bursa contributes to the scientific and cultural life of the country because of the activities being carried out at Uludağ University.

Konya

Due to its strategic location, Konya (formerly Iconium) was once the capital of many Turkish states in Central Anatolia, but is particularly renowned for its examples of Seljuk architecture. The tomb and museum of Mevlana Celaleddin-i Rumi, the founder of a school of humanitarian philosophy which spread all over the world, are also in Konya. Konya attracts a large number of visitors both domestic and foreign, particularly during Mevlana Week held every December.

Adana

Adana is an important agricultural and industrial center with its cotton, citrus fruit and textile production. Çukurova University has given a new dimension and appearance to the city's educational and cultural life. It is connected by road to every part of Turkey and also has air connections to Ankara, İstanbul and İzmir.

Antalya

Antalya is one of the most beautiful cities on the Mediterranean coast. The founding of this province dates back to King Attalos II of Pergamum, who lived in 159-138 B.C. In ancient towns such as Aspendos and Termessos, city walls, towers, inns, bridges and mosques blend together. Antalya is one of the most important tourism centers in Turkey with its beaches, natural waterfalls, rivers and surrounding mountain range, and is conveniently located both for sea and mountain sports.

Diyarbakır

Diyarbakır, located on a plain surrounded by mountains in the Tigris River basin, is the administrative seat of the southeast region. Its economy is based on agriculture and trade. Two important transportation routes are located on the Tigris River part of the Diyarbakır Plain: one traversing the Mediterranean and Persian Gulf regions, the other Azerbaijan and Iran. Diyarbakır has always been an important trade center. The climate is also very suitable for agriculture. The most important historical site in the town is the Diyarbakır Walls, the longest city walls in the world. There are also several ancient Muslim theological schools in Diyarbakır.

Samsun

Samsun, one of the most important ports of the Black Sea region, is the site of ancient settlements of the Anatolian Peninsula dating back to the eighth century B.C. Its economy is mainly based on tobacco and fishing.

Trabzon

Trabzon is the most important and largest city in the eastern Black Sea coastal region with a cultural heritage and history dating back to the seventh century B.C. Agriculture is the dominant factor in Trabzon's economy, in which transit trade plays an important role with land, sea and air connections. Tea, hazelnut and kiwi farming are leading local industries. Besides hamsi fish, which has become the symbol of Trabzon, fishing also has an important place in the city's economy. The most interesting places to visit in Trabzon, where highland tourism is of great importance are: İçkale, Ortahisar, Aşağıhisar, the Small Ayvasıl Church, Ortahisar Mosque, Yenicuma Mosque, St. Sophia's Church, Arafılboyu Mosque, the Maşatlık Rock Churches, Gülbahar Hatun Mosque, the Bedesten, Sümela Monastery, and the Atatürk Museum.
